PREFACE

THE New York State Medical Association desires to present the sixth volume of the MEDICAL DIRECTORY OF NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY, AND CONNECTICUT, to the members of the Association, the profession, and the public.

In compiling the list of physicians the same general order has been followed as of previous years, giving membership in all societies having a recognized standing in the profession, hospital and dispensary appointments, with residence, office hours, telephone call, and college and year of graduation.

The endeavor to make the MEDICAL DIRECTORY the best reference book for the profession can be furthered by the members of the Association assisting the Committee on Publication by notifying it of errors and omissions, and by showing their friends a copy, and pointing out the value it has been to them and the great usefulness it may be to others.

The total number of physicians in lists contained in Volume VI of the MEDICAL DIRECTORY is 15,204, of which 11,746 are in New York State, 2,176 in New Jersey, 1,282 in Connecticut. Of the 11,746 physicians in New York State, 4,215 are credited to Manhattan and Bronx, 1,506 to Brooklyn, 121 to Queens, 65 to Richmond, a total for Greater New York of 5,907, which makes the number of physicians residing in the rest of the State 5,839.

The Council may elect members at any regular meeting when the application is approved by three (3) members of the Executive Committee of his District Branch Association, provided there is no County Association in the county in which the applicant resides.

Non-Resident, Corresponding and Honorary Members.—§ 3. Upon nomination by two Fellows non-resident members may be appointed by the Council. Corresponding and honorary members not to exceed two each during any one year, may be appointed by the Council at its annual meeting after nomination by three Fellows in writing at the preceding annual meeting.

§ 7. When a member removes from the State of New York permanently he shall cease to be a member of The New York State Medical Association, and shall forfeit all right and title to any share in the privileges and property of the Association. If he shall send a written notice of his removal to the Secretary of his County Association (or District Branch Association) within thirty (30) days of such removal he may make application to the Council for non-resident membership.

submitting the bill a rebate of one (1) dollar may be deducted. Corresponding and honorary members shall be exempt from the payment of dues.

Payment of Dues.—§ 3. All dues shall be payable on the first day of January of each year. Resident members shall transmit their dues to the Treasurer of their County Association or of their District Branch Association when no County Association exists. Non-resident members shall transmit their dues to the Treasurer of the State Association.

Collection of Dues.—§ 4. On the first day of July in each year the names of all those members who have failed to pay their indebtedness to the Association shall be dropped from the forthcoming list of members to appear in the Medical Directory for that year, and if those members still further fail to pay their indebtedness by the close of the annual meeting of the Association of that year without satisfactory excuse, their names shall be dropped from the official roll of members.

§ 5. On every bill for dues sent to members, the Treasurer shall cause to be printed Sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of this article.

Distribution of Dues.—§ 6. The Treasurer of each County Association and District Branch Association shall pay to the Treasurer of the State Association the sum of $5 or $6 (in accordance with paragraph 2 of this article) for each and every member who has paid his dues for the year. Remittances should pass to the State Treasurer at such intervals as may be determined by the amount of accumulated collections on hand, but by the first day of October in each year all the funds properly coming to the State Association shall be in the State Treasurer's hands, to be included in his forthcoming annual statement.

LEGAL DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS.

1. All physicians practicing in the City of New York (including those in public institutions) must be registered with the Department of Health.

2. An attending physician must furnish a certificate of death within thirty-six hours after the death of the patient, or, if death be due to a contagious or infectious disease, forthwith.

3. If a person dies from criminal violence, or by a casualty, or suddenly when in apparent health, or when unattended by a physician, or in prison, or in any suspicious or unusual manner, the case must be referred to a Coroner.

4. It shall be the duty of every physician to report to the Department of Health, in writing, the full name, age, and address of every person suffering from any one of the infectious diseases included in the list appended, with the name of the disease, within twenty-four hours of the time when the case is first seen.

A.—Contagious (very readily communicable): Measles, rubella (rotheln), scarlet fever, small-pox, varicella (chicken-pox), typhus fever, relapsing fever.

B.—Communicable: Diphtheria (croup), typhoid fever, Asiatic cholera, tuberculosis (of any organ), plague, tetanus, anthrax, glanders, epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis, leprosy, infectious diseases of the eye (trachoma, suppurative conjunctivitis), puerperal septicæmia, erysipelas, whooping cough.

C.—Indirectly communicable (through intermediary host): Yellow fever, malarial fever.

5. Physicians must report births occurring in their practice within ten days after the event.

6. Every physician must preserve a duplicate record of every death and birth so reported.

N.B.—Any violation of the Sanitary Code is a misdemeanor. (Sec. 1172, Chap. 466, Laws of 1901.)

RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH RELATING TO PHYSICIANS.

1. Reports of cases of contagious disease, of births, of still-births, and of deaths must be written with black ink, upon blank forms provided by the Department, which will be furnished upon application, personally or by mail.

2. Certificates of death will be returned for additional information, which give any of the following diseases, without explanation, as the sole cause of death:

Abortion,	Erysipelas,	Meningitis,	Phlebitis,
Cellulitis,	Gangrene,	Metritis,	Pyæmia,
Childbirth,	Gastritis,	Miscarriage,	Septicæmia,
Convulsions,	Hæmorrhage,	Peritonitis,	Tetanus.

(Any one of these may be the result of an injury, and thus be a subject for investigation by a Coroner. If it is not, the certificate should make that fact plain.)

3. No certificate will be accepted which gives a mere symptom as the sole cause of death (such as "asphyxia," "debility," "dropsy," "heart failure," etc.), unless accompanied by a satisfactory written explanation.

4. Certificates containing palpable errors of name, date, etc., or which are illegible, will be returned, and a new certificate required, as no corrections, erasures, or interlineations will be permitted.

(These certificates are permanent records of great legal importance, and it is necessary that they should show upon the face that they are original records, and have not been tampered with.)

N.B.—Physicians are particularly requested to make their reports of the cause of death as full and accurate as possible, in order that the records of this office may be of statistical value to the medical profession and the public.

It shall be the duty of every undertaker having notice of the death of any person within the City of New York of small-pox, diphtheria (croup), scarlet fever, yellow fever, typhus fever, plague, Asiatic cholera, measles, or any other infectious disease dangerous to the general health of the community, or of the bringing of the dead body of any person who has died of any such disease into such city, to give immediate notice thereof to this Department. No person shall retain or expose, or assist in the retention or exposure of the dead body of any such person except in a coffin or casket properly sealed; nor shall he allow any such body to be placed in any coffin or casket unless the body has been wrapped in a sheet saturated with a proper disinfecting solution, and the coffin or casket shall then be immediately and permanently sealed. No undertaker shall assist in the public or church funeral of any such person. No undertaker shall use, or cause or allow to be used, at any funeral, or in any room where the dead body of any person shall be, any draperies, decorations, rugs, or carpets, belonging to, or furnished by him or under his direction.

A public or church funeral shall not be held of any person who has died of small-pox, diphtheria (croup), scarlet fever, yellow fever, typhus fever, Asiatic cholera, measles, or plague; but the funeral of such person shall be private, and it shall not be lawful to invite, or permit at the funeral of any person who has died of any one of the above diseases, or of any infectious disease, or at any services connected therewith, any person whose attendance is not necessary, or to whom there is danger of contagion thereby.

By order of the Board of Health.

Article IV.—Constituent Associations.

Those State and Territorial Medical Associations which have, or which hereafter may, become organized in accordance with the general plan of organization of the American Medical Association, and which have declared by resolution their allegiance to the said American Medical Association, and shall agree with other State and Territorial Medical Associations to the formation and perpetuation of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association, shall be recognized as Constituent Associations.

Article V.—House of Delegates.

§ 1.—There shall be a business body known as the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association. It shall consist of delegates elected by the Constituent Associations, by the scientific sections of the American Medical Association, from the medical departments of the Army, and of the Navy, and from the U. The House of Delegates may amend any article of this constitution at any annual session, provided the proposed amendment shall not be acted on until the annual session next following that on which it was introduced, and provided that three-fourths of the voting members registered at the session at which action is taken vote in favor of such change or amendment.

BY-LAWS.

BOOK I. MEMBERSHIP.

Chapter I.—Qualifications for Membership.

§ 1.—Membership, How Obtained.—A member in good standing of the constituent association of the State in which he resides, or a medical officer of the U. S. Army, of the U. S. Navy, or of the U. S. Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, may become a member of the American Medical Association by presenting to the general secretary: (1) satisfactory evidence of one of the above qualifications; (2) written application for membership on the prescribed form; and (3) the annual dues.

§ 2.—Membership Must Be Retained in Constituent Association.—Membership in this Association shall continue only so long as the individual retains one of the qualifications indicated in Section 1 of this chapter. When the general secretary shall be officially informed that a member has forfeited his qualification, it shall be his duty to remove the name of such person from the roll of membership in this Association and to notify him of the action taken together with the reason therefor.

§ 3.—Membership Restored.—A physician who has forfeited his membership shall be reinstated on his request by the general secretary when satisfactory evidence of qualification has been presented.

§ 4.—Delinquency.—Dues Must Be Paid.—Any member who shall fail to pay his annual dues for one year, unless absent from the country, shall be dropped from the roll of members, provided, that due notice shall be previously given to the member by the general secretary. Any member who has been suspended for non-payment of dues shall be restored only when all his dues have been paid.

Chapter II.—Registration of Members.

§ 1.—Registration.—No member shall take part in the proceedings of the Association or of any of the Sections until he has registered his name and address with the proper officer or committee, and paid his annual dues for the current year.

§ 2.—Section Affiliation.—A member desiring to take part in the scientific work of the Association shall indicate when registering the section in which he wishes to be enrolled. No member shall be registered in more than one section at any annual session.

Chapter III.—Dental, Pharmaceutical, Associate, and Honorary Members.

§ 1.—Dental Members.—Dentists who hold the degree of D.D.S. from a reputable dental college, and who are members of a recognized local or State dental society, may be admitted as dental members on recommendation of the officers of the Section on Stomatology, and approval by a majority vote of the section. The names of such members shall be sent to the general secretary by the secretary of the section.

§ 2.—Pharmaceutical Members.—Reputable pharmacists who are active members of the American Pharmaceutical Association may be admitted as pharmaceutical members on recommendation of the officers of the Section on Pharmacology and on approval by a majority vote of the section. The names of such members shall be sent to the general secretary by the secretary of the section.

§ 3.—Privileges.—Dental and pharmaceutical members shall enjoy the same privileges as regular members, and shall be subject to the same conditions.

§ 4.—Forfeiture of Membership.—Membership obtained under Sections 1 and 2 of this chapter may be declared forfeited by the House of Delegates for reasons considered sufficient by that body.

§ 5.—Associate Members.—Representative teachers and students of the allied sciences, and distinguished physicians of foreign countries, may be invited by the general officers, or by the officers of a section, to attend the annual session and to take part in the scientific work. They shall be designated associate members. They shall hold their connection with this Association until the close of the annual session to which they are invited and shall be entitled to participate in the scientific and social functions of the Association.

§ 6.—Honorary Members.—Honorary members shall be physicians of foreign countries who have risen to pre-eminence in the profession of medicine. They may be elected by the House of Delegates, on the nomination of a section, but not more than three honorary members shall be elected in any one year.

§ 7.—Members from Adjoining Countries.—The House of Delegates may provide for membership, under proper restriction, from among the members of recognized medical societies of neighboring countries.

§ 2.—Delegates Elected for Two Years.—Members of the House of Delegates shall be elected for a term of two years, and constituent associations entitled to more than one representative are requested so to elect their representatives that one-half, as near as may be, shall be elected each year.

§ 3.—Apportionment of Delegates.—At the annual session of 1903, and every third year thereafter, the House of Delegates shall appoint a committee of five on reapportionment, of which the president and secretary shall be members. It shall be the duty of this committee to examine the membership lists of the constituent associations and to determine therefrom the number of delegates to this Association to which each constituent association shall be entitled for the ensuing three years, beginning with the next annual session succeeding that at which the reapportionment is approved by the House of Delegates. Until such an apportionment results in returning in excess of 135 delegates from the constituent association, the committee shall apportion to each constituent association one delegate to every 500, or fraction thereof, of its active members. The number of delegates allotted to each constituent association shall prevail until the next triennial apportionment, whether its membership increase or decrease.

§ 4.—Registration of Delegates.—Every delegate from a constituent association, before being permitted to take part in the proceedings of the House of Delegates, must deposit with the general secretary, or other designated officer or committee, a certificate signed by the president and secretary of his constituent association, stating that he has been regularly and legally elected a delegate to the American Medical Association for a definitely stated term; and the delegates from the sections shall present credentials signed by the chairman and secretary of their respective sections. Delegates from the government services must present credentials from the surgeon-general of the respective departments.

4. Reports of committees.
5. Unfinished business.
6. New business.

§ 2.—Limit of Time for Introduction of New Business.—No new business shall be introduced into the House of Delegates on the fourth day of the annual session, unless with unanimous consent; and such new business, whether in the form of a resolution, memorial or otherwise, shall require a unanimous vote for final action.

§ 3.—Rules of Order.—The House of Delegates shall be governed by Roberts' Rules of Order when not in conflict with these by-laws or with the rules of the House.

§ 4.—Quorum.—Twenty voting members of the House of Delegates shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

§ 2.—Special Sessions.—Special sessions of the House of Delegates shall be called by the president on written request of twenty-six delegates representing a majority of the constituent associations, by mailing a written or printed notice to the last known address of each delegate at least twenty days before such special session is to be held, in which shall be specified the time and place of meeting and in general terms the objects of such special session, and no other business shall be transacted thereat.

Chapter VII.—Nomination, Election and Installation of Officers, Trustees, Honorary Members, and Orators.

§ 1.—Nominations.—Nominations for all officers except the treasurer shall be made by ballot, and ten votes shall be necessary to constitute a nomination. As many ballots may be taken and as many nominations made as the House desires. The treasurer shall be nominated by the board of trustees.

§ 2.—All elections shall be by ballot, and a majority of the votes cast shall be necessary to elect. In case no nominee receives a majority of the votes on the first ballot, the nominee receiving the least number of votes shall be dropped and a new ballot held. This procedure shall be continued until one of the nominees receives a majority of all votes cast, when he shall be declared elected.

§ 3.—Time of Election.—The election of officers shall be the first order of business of the House of Delegates after the reading of the minutes on the afternoon of the third day of the annual session.

§ 4.—Honorary Members.—Nominations for honorary membership from the sections shall be referred without debate to the Committee on Sections and Section Work, which shall consider the relative scientific attainments and professional character of the nominees, and report its conclusions to the House of Delegates for action. The election of honorary members shall immediately follow the election of officers.

§ 5.—Orators.—The House of Delegates shall elect annually three members to deliver addresses in the General Meetings of the next ensuing annual session—one on some topic or topics relating to general medicine, one to general surgery, and one to State medicine.

§ 6.—Installation.—The general officers of the Association, except the president, shall be installed at the close of the last meeting of the annual session at which they are elected.

§ 7.—Installation of the President.—The president shall be installed at the opening general meeting of the annual session following that at which he was elected.

BOOK III. OFFICERS, TRUSTEES AND COMMITTEES.

Chapter VIII.—Duties of Officers.

§ 1.—President.—The president shall preside at the general meetings and at the meetings of the House of Delegates, and shall perform such duties as custom and parliamentary usage require. On the morning of the first day of the annual session following his election he shall deliver an address at the general meeting not exceeding forty minutes in length on such matters as he may deem of importance to the Association. He may at any time make suggestions to the general meeting, to the House of Delegates, or to standing or special committees, provided such suggestions are made in writing.

§ 2.—Vice-Presidents.—The vice-presidents shall assist the president in the performance of his duties and during his absence, or, at his request, one of them shall officiate in his place. In case of the death, resignation or removal of the president, the vacancy shall be filled by the first vice-president.

§ 3.—General Secretary.—The general secretary shall give due notice of the time and place of all annual and special sessions of the Association and of the House of Delegates by publishing the same in "The Journal of the American Medical Association." He shall keep in separate books the minutes of the general meetings and of the House of Delegates. He shall notify members of committees of their appointment and of the duties assigned to them. It shall be his duty to verify the credentials of members of the House of Delegates and to provide a registration book for them, in which shall be recorded the name of every delegate in attendance at each session, together with that of the association, government service or section which he represents. He shall also prepare a roll of the delegates attending each session to facilitate voting by roll-call. He shall prepare for publication the official programme of each meeting, and shall perform such other duties as pertain to his office or as may be directed by the Association, the House of Delegates, or the board of trustees. The secretary's salary shall be fixed by the board of trustees.

§ 4.—Treasurer.—The treasurer shall be the custodian of all moneys, securities and deeds belonging to the Association which may come into his possession, and shall hold the same subject to the direction and disposition of the board of trustees. He shall give to the board of trustees a suitable bond for the faithful performance of his trust and shall receive for his services a salary to be fixed by the board of trustees.

§ 5.—All business of each annual session shall be completed by the officers (including section officers) who have served through the session.

Chapter IX.—Board of Trustees.

§ 1.—Board of Trustees.—The board of trustees shall have charge of all properties and of the financial affairs of the Association. At the first meeting of the board after the annual session of the Association it shall organize by electing a chairman and a secretary, and the chairman shall appoint such committees as may be necessary or desirable. It shall be the duty of this board to provide for and superintend the publication of "The Journal of the American Medical Association," and all proceedings, transactions and memoirs of the Association. It shall have full discretionary power to omit from "The Journal of the American Medical Association," in part or in whole, any paper that may be referred to it by any of the sections. It shall appoint a general manager and editor of "The Journal," which two positions may be held by one person, and such assistants as may be necessary, and shall determine the salaries and the terms and conditions of their employment. All resolutions or recommendations of the House of Delegates pertaining to the expenditure of money must be approved by the board of trustees before the same shall become effective. During the annual session of the Association the board shall hold meetings as often as may be deemed necessary by the chairman, and all matters referred to it by the House of Delegates shall be reported on within twenty-four hours, if so requested by the House. The board of trustees shall have the accounts of the treasurer and of "The Journal" office audited annually or oftener, if deemed necessary, and shall make an annual report on the same to the House of Delegates, which report shall also specify the character and cost of all the publications of the Association during the year and the amount of all property belonging to the Association. In case of a vacancy in the office of treasurer or secretary on account of death or otherwise, the vacancy shall be filled by the board of trustees until the next annual session of the House of Delegates. The board of trustees shall fix the salary of the secretary and of the treasurer. Regular meetings of the board shall be held immediately after the annual session of the Association, and on the first Friday in the month of February of each year. Special meetings of the board may be called at any time by the chairman, or by five members of the board, by mailing a written or printed notice to the last known address of each trustee, at least five days before such meeting is to be held, in which shall be specified, in general terms, the object of such special meeting, and no other business shall be transacted thereat: Provided, That if at any time a meeting of the board be held at which all the trustees are present, or the proceedings of which are approved in writing by every member of the board, said meeting and proceedings shall be valid, without any previous notice having been given. Five members of the board shall constitute a quorum.

Chapter X.—Committees.

§ 1.—Classification of Committees.—Committees shall be classified as (a) Standing Committees, (b) Reference Committees, and (c) Special Committees. These committees shall be nominated by the president and elected by the House of Delegates, unless otherwise provided.

§ 2.—Reference Committees shall be nominated from among the members of the House of Delegates, but any member of the Association shall be eligible to serve on standing or special committees. All members of committees who are not members of the House of Delegates shall have the right to present their reports in person to the House of Delegates and participate in the debate thereon, but shall not have the right to vote.

This committee shall invite to a conference once in each year, or oftener if need be, the auxiliary committee herein created, at which shall be considered questions of national and State legislation, with the view of uniting all the influences of the profession of the country in support of proper legislation and of securing uniformity so far as may be possible and expedient. The Committee on Legislation shall report to the House of Delegates at each annual session its proceedings during the previous year, and shall recommend such action in respect to pending legislation as it shall deem proper.

It shall recommend to the House of Delegates a place at which to hold the next annual session, after due consideration of the question of availability, means of transportation, railroad rates, etc.

§ 8.—The Council of Medical Education shall consist of five members. One member shall be elected to serve one year, one for two years, one for three years, one for four years, and one for five years. The secretary shall indorse thereon that it has been read and hand it to the executive committee for its action. All papers approved by the executive committee shall be returned to the secretary of the section, who shall at once forward them to the editor of "The Journal."

§ 3.—Papers "Read by Title."—No paper shall be published as having been read before a section unless it has actually been read, or unless for special reasons when the author has been present and prepared to read the paper, the section shall unanimously vote to have it read by title.

PRINCIPLES OF MEDICAL ETHICS.

PREFACE.

At the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, held in New Orleans, the House of Delegates unanimously adopted, on May 7, 1903, the "Principles of Medical Ethics" recommended by its committee, and ordered that the following extract from the report of the Special Committee on Revision of the Code of Medical Ethics be printed as an explanatory preface to these "Principles."

"The caption 'Principles of Medical Ethics' has been substituted for 'Code of Medical Ethics.' Inasmuch as the American Medical Association may be conceived to hold a relation to the constituent state associations analogous to that of the United States through its constitution to the several states, the committee deemed it wiser to formulate the principles of medical ethics without definite reference to code or penalties. Large discretionary powers are thus left to the respective state and territorial societies to form such codes and establish such rules for the professional conduct of their members as they may consider proper, provided, of course, that there shall be no infringement of the established ethical principles of this Association.

"Respectfully submitted,

"E. ELIOT HARRIS, Chairman.

"WILLIAM H. WELCH.

"T. J. HAPPEL.

"JOSEPH D. BRYANT."

The American Medical Association promulgates as a suggestive and advisory document the following:

CHAPTER I.—THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS.

§ 1.—Physicians should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick and the injured, but should be mindful of the high character of their mission and of the responsibilities they must incur in the discharge of momentous duties. In their ministrations they should never forget that the comfort, the health, and the lives of those entrusted to their care depend on skill, attention, and fidelity. In deportment they should unite tenderness, cheerfulness, and firmness, and thus inspire all sufferers with gratitude, respect, and confidence. These observances are the more sacred because, generally, the only tribunal to adjudge penalties for unkindness, carelessness, or neglect is their own conscience.

§ 2.—Every patient committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention and humanity, and reasonable indulgence should be granted to the caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted, in their professional visits, should be guarded with the most scrupulous fidelity and honor.

§ 3.—The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional services; none of the privacies of individual or domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character observed during medical attendance, should ever be divulged by physicians, except when imperatively required by the laws of the state. The force of the obligation of secrecy is so great that physicians have been protected in its observance by courts of justice.

§ 4.—Frequent visits to the sick are often requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease, and to meet promptly every change which may occur. Unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give undue anxiety to the patient; but to secure the patient against irritating suspense and disappointment the regular and periodical visits of the physician should be made as nearly as possible at the hour when they may be reasonably expected by the patient.

§ 5.—Ordinarily, the physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, but should not fail, on proper occasions, to give timely notice of dangerous manifestations to the friends of the patient; and even to the patient, if absolutely necessary. This notice, however, is at times so peculiarly alarming when given by the physician, that its deliverance may often be preferably assigned to another person of good judgment.

§ 6.—The physician should be a minister of hope and comfort to the sick, since life may be lengthened or shortened not only by the acts but by the words or manner of the physician, whose solemn duty is to avoid all utterances and actions having a tendency to discourage and depress the patient.

§ 7.—The medical attendant ought not to abandon a patient because deemed incurable; for continued attention may be highly useful to the sufferer and comforting to the relatives, even in the last period of the fatal malady, by alleviating pain and by soothing mental anguish.

§ 8.—The opportunity which a physician has of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of patients suffering under the consequences of evil conduct ought never to be neglected. Good counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be tactfully proffered and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

CHAPTER II.—THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

§ 1.—Every one on entering the profession, and thereby becoming entitled to full professional fellowship, incurs an obligation to uphold its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. It is inconsistent with the principles of medical science and it is incompatible with honorable standing in the profession for physicians to designate their practice as based on an exclusive dogma or a sectarian system of medicine.

§ 2.—The physician should observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of the members of the profession; should honor the fraternity as a body; should endeavor to promote the science and art of medicine, and should entertain a due respect for those seniors who, by their labors, have contributed to its advancement.

§ 3.—Every physician should identify himself with the organized body of his profession as represented in the community in which he resides. The organization of local or county medical societies, where they do not exist, should be effected, so far as practicable. Such county societies, constituting as they do the chief element of strength in the organization of the profession, should have the active support of their members and should be made instruments for the cultivation of fellowship, for the exchange of professional experience, for the advancement of medical knowledge, for the maintenance of ethical standards, and for the promotion in general of the interests of the profession and the welfare of the public.

§ 4.—All county medical societies thus organized ought to place themselves in affiliation with their respective state associations, and these, in turn, with the American Medical Association.

§ 5.—There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence are required than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to the profession and to patients. It is due to the patients, as without it their respect and confidence cannot be commanded; and to the profession, because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles.

§ 6.—It is incumbent on physicians to be temperate in all things, for the practice of medicine requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and in emergencies—for which no physician should be unprepared—a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded mind are essential to the welfare and even to the life of a human being.

§ 7.—It is incompatible with honorable standing in the profession to resort to public advertisement or private cards inviting the attention of persons affected with particular diseases; to promise radical cures; to publish cases of operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen (other than relatives who may desire to be at hand) to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success, or to employ any of the other methods of charlatans.

§ 8.—It is equally derogatory to professional character for physicians to hold patents for any surgical instruments or medicines; to accept rebates on prescriptions or surgical appliances; to assist unqualified persons to evade the legal restrictions governing the practice of medicine; or to dispense, or promote the use of, secret medicines, for if such nostrums are of real efficacy, any concealment regarding them is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality, and if mystery alone give them public notoriety, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is highly reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of secret medicines, or other substances used therapeutically.

Article II.—Professional Services of Physicians to Each Other.

§ 1.—Physicians should not, as a general rule, undertake the treatment of themselves, nor of members of their family. In such circumstances they are peculiarly dependent on each other; therefore, kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. These visits ought not, however, to be obtrusively made, as they may give rise to embarrassment or interfere with that free choice on which such confidence depends.

§ 2.—All practising physicians and their immediate family dependants are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the physicians residing near them.

§ 3.—When a physician is summoned from a distance to the bedside of a colleague in easy financial circumstances, a compensation, proportionate to traveling expenses and to the pecuniary loss entailed by absence from the accustomed field of professional labor, should be made by the patient or relatives.

§ 4.—When more than one physician is attending another, one of the number should take charge of the case, otherwise the concert of thought and action so essential to wise treatment cannot be assured.

§ 5.—The affairs of life, the pursuit of health and the various accidents and contingencies to which a physician is peculiarly exposed sometimes require the temporary withdrawal of this physician from daily professional labor and the appointment of a colleague to act for a specified time. The colleague's compliance is an act of courtesy which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician.

Article III.—The Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultations.

§ 1.—The broadest dictates of humanity should be obeyed by physicians whenever and wherever their services are needed to meet the emergencies of disease or accident.

§ 2.—Consultations should be promoted in difficult cases, as they contribute to confidence and more enlarged views of practice.

§ 3.—The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultations, and this is generally practicable, for society has been so considerate as to allow the plea for a professional engagement to take precedence over all others.

§ 4.—As professional engagements may sometimes cause delay in attendance, the physician who first arrives should wait for a reasonable time, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment.

§ 5.—In consultations no insincerity, rivalry, or envy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be observed toward the physician in charge of the case.

§ 6.—No statement or discussion of the case should take place before the patient or friends, except in the presence of all the physicians attending, or by their common consent; and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

§ 7.—No decision should restrain the attending physician from making such subsequent variations in the mode of treatment as any unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But at the next consultation reasons for the variations should be stated. The same privilege, with its obligation, belongs to the consultant when sent for in an emergency during the absence of the family physician.

§ 8.—The attending physician, at any time, may prescribe for the patient; not so the consultant, when alone, except in a case of emergency or when called from a considerable distance. In the first instance the consultant should do what is needed, and in the second should do no more than make an examination of the patient and leave a written opinion, under seal, to be delivered to the attending physician.

§ 9.—All discussions in consultation should be held as confidential. Neither by words nor by manner should any of the participants in a consultation assert or intimate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent.

§ 10.—It may happen that two physicians cannot agree in their views of the nature of a case and of the treatment to be pursued. In the event of such disagreement a third physician should, if practicable, be called in. None but the rarest and most exceptional circumstances would justify the consultant in taking charge of the case. He should not do so merely on the solicitation of the patient or friends.

§ 11.—A physician who is called in consultation should observe the most honorable and scrupulous regard for the character and standing of the attending physician, whose conduct of the case should be justified, as far as can be, consistently with a conscientious regard for truth, and no hint or insinuation should be thrown out which would impair the confidence reposed in the attending physician.

Article IV.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

§ 1.—Medicine being a liberal profession, those admitted to its ranks should found their expectations of practice especially on the character and the extent of their medical education.

§ 2.—The physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another physician, should observe the strictest caution and reserve; should give no disingenuous hints relative to the nature and treatment of the patient's disorder, nor should the course or conduct of the physician, directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the attending physician.

§ 3.—The same circumspection should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit a person who is under the direction of another physician. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and when they are made, no inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease, or the remedies employed, but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

§ 4.—A physician ought not to take charge of, or prescribe for, a patient who has recently been under the care of another physician, in the same illness, except in case of a sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when that physician has relinquished the case or has been dismissed in due form.

§ 5.—The physician acting in conformity with the preceding section should not make damaging insinuations regarding the practice previously adopted, and, indeed, should justify it if consistent with truth and probity; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they are not immediately relieved, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the seeming want of success, in the first stage of treatment, affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge or skill.

§ 6.—When a physician is called to an urgent case, because the family attendant is not at hand, unless assistance in consultation is desired, the former should resign the care of the patient immediately on the arrival of the family physician.

§ 7.—It often happens, in cases of sudden illness, and of accidents and injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that several physicians are simultaneously summoned. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, and who, if necessary, may invoke the aid of some of those present. In such case, however, the acting physician should request that the family physician be called, and should withdraw unless requested to continue in attendance.

§ 8.—Whenever a physician is called to the patient of another physician during the enforced absence of that physician the case should be relinquished on the return of the latter.

§ 9.—A physician, while visiting a sick person in the country, may be asked to see another physician's patient because of a sudden aggravation of the disease. On such an occasion the immediate needs of the patient should be attended to and the case relinquished on the arrival of the attending physician.

§ 10.—When a physician who has been engaged to attend an obstetric case is absent and another is sent for, delivery being accomplished during the vicarious attendance, the acting physician is entitled to the professional fee, but must resign the patient on the arrival of the physician first engaged.

Article V.—Differences Between Physicians.

§ 1.—Diversity of opinion and opposition of interest may, in the medical as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy and even contention. Whenever such unfortunate cases occur and cannot be immediately adjusted, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of impartial physicians.

§ 2.—A peculiar reserve must be maintained by physicians toward the public in regard to some professional questions, and as there exist many points in medical ethics and etiquette through which the feelings of physicians may be painfully assailed in their intercourse, and which cannot be understood or appreciated by general society, neither the subject-matter of their differences nor the adjudication of the arbitrators should be made public.

Article VI.—Compensation.

§ 1.—By the members of no profession are eleemosynary services more liberally dispensed than by the medical, but justice requires that some limits should be placed to their performance. Poverty, mutual professional obligations, and certain of the public duties named in Sections 1 and 2, of Chapter III, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by the rich, or by societies for mutual benefit, for life insurance, or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege.

§ 2.—It cannot be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, or to perform militia duty; to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, obtain pensions, or the like, without due compensation. But to persons in indigent circumstances such services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

§ 3.—Some general rules should be adopted by the physicians in every town or district relative to the minimum pecuniary acknowledgment from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

§ 4.—It is derogatory to professional character for physicians to pay or offer to pay commissions to any person whatsoever who may recommend to them patients requiring general or special treatment or surgical operations. It is equally derogatory to professional character for physicians to solicit or to receive such commissions.

CHAPTER III.—THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THE PUBLIC.

§ 1.—As good citizens it is the duty of physicians to be very vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its laws, institutions, and burdens; especially should they be ready to co-operate with the proper authorities in the administration and the observance of sanitary laws and regulations, and they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to subjects especially appertaining to their profession, as on questions of sanitary police, public hygiene, and legal medicine.

§ 2.—It is the province of physicians to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; to the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions; in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of the suffering people, even at the risk of their own lives.

§ 3.—Physicians, when called on by legally constituted authorities, should always be ready to enlighten inquests and courts of justice on subjects strictly medical, such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poison, or other violent means, and various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. It is but just, however, for them to expect due compensation for their services.

§ 4.—It is the duty of physicians who are frequent witnesses of the great wrongs committed by charlatans, and of the injury to health and even destruction of life caused by the use of their treatment, to enlighten the public on these subjects, and to make known the injuries sustained by the unwary from the devices and pretensions of artful impostors.

§ 5.—It is the duty of physicians to recognize and by legitimate patronage to promote the profession of pharmacy, on the skill and proficiency of which depends the reliability of remedies, but any pharmacist who, although educated in his own profession, is not a qualified physician, and who assumes to prescribe for the sick, ought not to receive such countenance and support. Any druggist or pharmacist who dispenses deteriorated or sophisticated drugs or who substitutes one remedy for another designated in a prescription ought thereby to forfeit the recognition and influence of physicians.

EXODIN

(Diacetyl-rufigallic-acid-tetramethyl-ether)

A tasteless and odorless cathartic, pleasant and reliable in action. It is absolutely free from all untoward effects; it never causes gastric disturbance, diarrhœa, or after-constipation; it does not irritate the viscera or weaken the muscular fibers of the intestines; and it in no way diminishes the patient's strength and vitality.

While the older purgatives induce a sudden excitation of the mucosa and a consequent downward peristalsis, Exodin has a mild, protracted tonic action on the tract; and this explains why it never produces the by-effects so common with other remedies.

Reports by Prof. WILHELM EBSTEIN (Deutsche Med. Wochenschrift, Jan. 1, 1904) and Dr. ALFONS STAUDER (Therapie der Gegenwart, June, 1904) furnished on request.

STAMMERING The Bryant School for Stammerers

AS MUCH of the speech apparatus is under control of the will, considerable may be done for those who suffer from speech defects by a careful training of the respiratory, vocal, and articulating organs. This training is given under the direction of a physician of many years' experience. The profession may rely upon having the best treatment known for those who apply to them. Such remedies for nervous and physical conditions as directed by the patient's physician may also be used. The location opposite Bryant Park is very convenient and accessible. A pamphlet, giving outline of treatment and authentic references, can be had upon application, or it will be mailed to any address mentioned. Sample copies of VOICE TOPICS, a quarterly journal for the consideration of speech defects, may also be had for the asking.
